MORE THAN SAFE

F. SWINNEY ON ELDORADO-BO NANZA ENTERPRISE.

While There Is Rick in All Mining Ventures, This Company Has a Decidedly Good Thing in the Klondike.

"The gentlemen who are at the head of the Eldorado-Bonanza Quartz and Placer Mining Company," said Mr. E. F. Swinney, cashier of the First National bank yester-"were introduced to me by responsible financial men in whom I have the greatest confidence. These gentlemen would not present for my consideration an enterprise which did not offer all the eleents of a stable, not to say alluring, inent. I investigated the company, and a very little investigation showed me that the company has a handsome thing in this enterprise. Without being over-sanguine or believing that there are millions only waiting for the picking up. I am thoroughly convinced that the enterprise will be a flattering success. I take no stock in the average mining scheme, even in the Klondike, and I would not advise my friends to invest in anything which did not offer reasonable prospects of a good return for the investment. But I have had no hesitancy in advising the many persons who have written to me for my advice that the scheme was absolutely safe and well worth investing in.

"I am well aware that there is risk in all these enterprises, but the risk in this case seems to me to have been reduced to a minimum. I do not have any doubt that my investment will well repay immensely. There is more or less speculation in all mining enterprises, but the prospects held out by the Eldorado-Bonanza Quartz and Placer Mining Company are backed up by almost irrefutable proofs of the safety of the enterprise.

"A giance at the man of the mining disguine or believing that there are millions almost irrefutable proofs of the safety of the enterprise.

"A glance at the map of the mining district in the vicinity of Bonanza and Eidorado creeks shows why this enterprise is an alluring one from a financial point of view. The company owns both quartz and placer claims; twelve placer mines in the heart of the richest placer mining district in the Klondike, and nine quartz claims on the mother lode. The company is capitalized for only $1.500,000, while other companies with half the property are capitalized for twenty-five or thirty times that amount. The affairs of the company are being managed on thorough business principles. Mr. M. J. McNeil, one of the gentlemen who discovered these claims, which have been united in one great enterprise, will leave for Dawson City about June 1, and will be accompanied by a representative selected by the stockholders, who will investigate the practical details of the matter and report to the stockholders on his return.

"It takes money to develop mines in the investigate the practical details of the matter and report to the stockholders on his return.

"It takes money to develop mines in the Klondike or anywhere else on a large scale. You can't dig out gold on business principles with a couple of picks or a few pans. There are no drills, siedgehammers, powder, dynamite, stamp mins or machinery of any kind in the Northwest Territory. Quartz mines cannot be worked without these things, but what can be done with them can be seen from the rich specimens on exhibit at the offices of the Eldorado-Boranza Quartz and Placer Mining Company, 216 Sheidley building. For this reason it is necessary to provide money to go at the matter to some purpose. There is plenty of gold there, and it can be got in quantities if business principles are followed out. "This company owns rich quartz mines at the confluence of the Bonanza and Eldorado creeks, only a few miles from Dawson City. Other quartz mines are located on Eldorado creek, controlling many miles along these two creeks, which are admitted to be the richest in the Yukon district. I am familiar with the details of practical mining, but I rely with confidence as an individual investor upon the statements made and proofs produced regarding the feasibility of the enterprise. I have such confidence in the enterprise. I have such confidence in the enterprise that I have no heaitancy in advising my friends or any prospective investor in buying the stock of the company. Anybody who knows anything about mining cannot fail to be impressed with the opportunities presented by this enterprise, while the character and standing of the gentlemen at the head of it are such that the mining layman has no reason for doubting the entire business feasibility of this enterprise."

FOR THEIR SWEETHEARTS.

Soldier Boys Violate Army Regulations to Pay Tribute to the Latest Fad. Brass military buttons are the latest fad among the girls of Kansas City. The button to be exactly the proper thing must be the gift of a soldier, who tears it from ton to be exactly the proper thing must be the gift of a soldier, who tears it from the sleeve or other part of his own uniform. The soldier in doing this subjects himself to severe censure from his superior officer, but so pressing have been the urgings from the Kansas City young women that many of the younger soldiers hazarded the risk.

The gift is considered a mutual pledge of unfaltering fidelity on the part of the giver and the recipient until they meet again. Bare are the incidences where a soldier gives away more than one button from his coat, and almost equally rare is it for a girl to possess more than one of the tokens. Such would be considered as inconstancy. It becomes the part of the girl, in the event her sweetheart escapes the wrath of the enemy, to keep the button until he returns, when, with her own fingers, she will sew it on again in its proper place. If he should never return, of course, the true girl, with tears and sad remembrances, will, through life cherish the button as a memento of her soldier loved one who gave his life for his country.

Generally the girls place the buttonis in their jewelry boxes or in other such place where they will be secure from loss. Others keep them in their purses and exhibit them to arouse the envy of girl friends who were so unfortunate as not to have a soldier sweetheart. Some wear them on the bangles of their bracelets, while some have used them as ornaments to hatpins.

Transatlantic News.

Reuter's Telegrams, the Direct and Mackey's Cables supply the reading and commercial public on this side of the Atlantic with faithful news. They almost invariably coincide in accuracy and speed of arrival, and the "special" cablegrams in the papers differ little from those sent out by the Associated Press. Ocean communication with the other side has also received immense impetus through the improvement of steam vessels, and the increase of their size and motive power. Passengers across the Atlantic are, in spite of splendid accommodations and the lessened vibration by improvement in the hull of steam vessels, always liable to sea sickness. The nausea which this complaint produces is invariably curable with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which quiets and invigorates the stomach, and relieves biliousness and an irregular state of the bowels. Malaria and the disorders caused by changes of climate, exposure in inclement weather and unusual diet are also remedied by this useful companion of the traveler and tourist.

May Have More Showers To-day. The probable showers predicted for yesterday came in the shape of a light drizzle late in the afternoon, which threatened to interfere with the exercises incident to the departure of the Fifth regiment, but the rainfall was only an official "trace." For to-day warmer weather with probable showers is predicted.

The maximum temperature yesterday was 68.5 deg., or 17% less than on Wednesday, while the minimum was 50 deg. The following were the hourly temperatures:
